STAUFFER MANAGEMENT COMPANY Carson, California Five-Year Review For Cleanup of Soils

The Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) announces a five-year review for the Stauffer Management Company, LLC. (Stauffer) site, in Carson, of the soils cleanup remedy. Stauffer is a former polyvinyl chloride (pvc) manufacturing facility located at 2112 East 223rd Street. Manufacturing operations ceased in early 1982 and all equipment and associated structures were subsequently removed. The cleanup remedy for soils was approved by DTSC in 1997 in a Remedial Action Plan (RAP) that was open for public comment. The five-year review ensures the current cleanup remedy continues to work effectively and protects people and the environment.

At Stauffer, high vacuum vapor-liquid extraction (VLE) was the remedy selected to address concentrations of volatile organic compounds (VOCs) detected in soils beneath the site. The VOCs are removed by soil vapor extraction and groundwater extraction. Soil vapors and groundwater are treated on site in accordance with County and State permit requirements. Since August 1998, the VLE system has removed more than 180,000 pounds of VOCs from the soils at the site.

The five-year review is expected to begin in January 2004 and end in March 2004. During the five-year review period, a plan will be developed and information will be collected about the effectiveness of site cleanup activities. A report will be prepared from the data collected that provides information on site cleanup activities, the five-year review process, and explains the results. A public notice announcing the availability of the five-year review report will be published and made available for public review at the Information Repository, located at the Carson Public Library, 151 E. Carson Street, Carson. For more information about DTSC please visit our website, www.dtsc.ca.gov.
